A message from the authors.....

The text in this reporting system and its inferred meanings are accurate to the best of our knowledge and belief, at the time of press.

It is not a code reference manual not a transcript of them, although some references may be made to current legislation.

The changing nature of good building practice, building, electrical and plumbing codes ensure that this book is constantly evolving. We invite you to be part of that process.

What Happens if There is a Problem

Inevitably, there are times when things go wrong. Some defect may have been hidden (by storage or furniture for instance) at the time of the inspection or may not reveal themselves until you have lived in the house for a while. A shower for instance, may leak only after the water has been running for several minutes or the basement may only let water in during certain weather conditions or at specific times of the year.

Often there are historical clues to previous problems – stains on walls and ceilings, rotting cabinets, poor drainage and so on.

However, in the absence of such clues or where they are hidden in some way – by decorations, storage or paneling for instance – future or even existing problems may be possible to identify or predict.

It is our policy to re-inspect and discuss with you, all significant problems. Please feel free to call at any time.

We do not quote prices for repairs. Some may argue that the buyer needs this sort of information to make an informed decision and balanced judgement and it precisely for that reason our policy exists.

Most home inspections can quote a price range for works however, when the range spans several thousands dollars, it creates an opportunity for argument and conflict.

In any circumstances where the repairs required are significant enough for buyer and seller to be concerned, we recommend that you obtain at least two written quotes from qualified contractors.

In that way, both parties will know the reality of the situation and can proceed from there.

Contractors' advice and that of your home inspector are sometimes in conflict. Remember that the home inspector works for you. When suggesting that basement leakage may be resolved by attention to eavestrough, grading and window wells, he has both the problem and the balance of your checking account in mind.

A contractor called to view the same scenario, may suggest a ten thousand dollar approach. Both will work. You must choose which remedy you prefer.

In this text, references to “further investigation by qualified personnel” are not discipline specific. It is the buyer’s responsibility to contact – say – an appropriate qualified electrician for electrical faults or a structural engineer for structural defects, before continuing further with the transaction.

BE SURE TO READ THIS REPORT THOROUGHLY

If you have any questions about this report or its contents, or you are in any way unsure of its meaning, you must contact us before proceeding.

When viewing the property and reading this report, the conventions front, rear, left and right, assume that the reader is standing on the street looking at the front of the building. In any other circumstance, compass points apply.

General Exclusions and Limit of Liability

The following items are excluded from the inspection: Appliances, including window or portable air conditioning units, furnace or heat pump heat exchangers or heat shields, buried oil tanks, interior flue liners, outbuildings, alarms and intercoms, computer LAN, theatre or other integrated technical low or high voltages wiring, septic, well and irrigation systems, other below grade sewage and water pipes, environmental test (including but not limited to, radon, UFFI, lead or asbestos), swimming pools, spas, hot tubs and related equipment, termites, carpenter ants and other insects.

Specifically excluded are any problems whatsoever relating in any way to the presence of fungus, moulds, toxins or other similar or related materials including health problems, flammable chemicals, clean up costs, abatements or other expenses.

We recommend water potability test for all homes.

We do not dismantle heating or air conditioning equipment. We do not carry any destructive testing.

Roof and basement leakage and sewer back ups are often unpredictable and generally unexpected. We are therefore not able to provide any guarantee that these items will not leak, back up or significantly deteriorate, before the expiry of any estimated lifespan that may be shown elsewhere in this report.

Indications of particular deficiencies may require an extrapolation. The report may show for instance, "Rot" in the window section. This means one or more windows may be affected.

This inspection is intended for substantially increase your knowledge of the features of your new home and to point out deficiencies that may adversely affect its performance.

Your attendance at the inspection is a major factor in that input.

We appreciate that circumstances can occasionally make it impossible for the buyer to be on site at the time of the inspection. The written report however, will never replace the understanding achieved from a one-on-one interaction with the inspector.

Existing buildings are not required to comply with today's codes in retrospect, thus this report makes no claims as to compliance (or otherwise) with any building, construction related codes (including, but not limited to, fire codes) of any discipline or Insurance Company Requirements, currently in force.

General Exclusion and Limit of Liability 2

It is agreed and understood that any notification of defects, omissions or errors alleged to have been made by the inspector, his company or agents, must be notified in writing, by the purchaser or his agent, to the said inspector, inspection company or his agents within 365 days from the date of the original inspection.

Such notification must be made in writing by registered or recorded mail to the registered offices of the inspector, his company or his agent.

Facsimile (fax) or e-mail notifications are not acceptable, nor will they be accepted.

It is further agreed and understood that in the sole discretion of the inspector, his company or his agent, any matters in dispute may first be sent to mediation or binding arbitration and that no court or other litigation proceedings will be instigated prior to that mediation or arbitration.

The liability of the inspector, his company or agents, in any dispute, is limited to the fee paid for the inspection.

Hantavirus is a growing concern in some areas. Most properties have mice living in some parts of the building. The inspection cannot determine the level of infestation (if any). You must contact your local rodent control officer or health department for further information on this subject.

Note:

Where this report indicates the need for further investigation or review by additional, qualified personnel, you must make that arrangement and review the further report from those personnel, prior to proceeding any further with your transaction.

We make no charge to discuss reports with you. You must further contact us, before proceeding with your transaction if you are in any way unsure of the meaning, significance or purport of any part of the text.
